

For DCT's Music Man, the first production in their new theatre building: picture the same sets that had recently been used in a road show starring Dick vanDyke, and a full orchestra in the pit. For me that was the pinnacle. Unlike the items described next, both Music Man shows were in community theaters on college campuses. Their reviews were highly complimentary but, aside from pictures taken during rehearsals, they showed up mainly on TV.

All of this activity added up to a great learning experience, along with very enjoyable time spent with established performers who had a miles-long list of accomplishments. I'm grateful for all of it.
